Introductive Session

- Warm Up:

Students introduced themselves through a small classic game in which you say two truths and a lie about yourself. This ice breaker was a tool to help them interact with one another and reconnect with the English language.

- Cities & Imagination:

Students were given four types of cities: Futuristic, Coastal, Traditional, and Industrial. They were asked several questions to which they had to reply with persuasive and strong arguments. This activity tested their language, built their vocabulary, and challenged their creativity. The main targeted skill was speaking.

- Group Activity:

Students were asked to design a city of their dream. They were requested to both draw a map of this city and provide a small presentation in a form of a paragraph. This creative exercise blends communication and critical thinking. Students discuss, plan, and present together. Therefore, they put in practice the use of English through creativity.
